(Hudson, Ohio, USA / April 5, 2006) – Michelle Price, a project writer for Radcom, Inc., a training and documentation consulting services company, recently swam in the Verizon Wireless Swim for Diabetes on Sunday, March 26. Ms. Price swam two miles (71 laps), raised $295, and came to work the next day, a little tired, but proud of her accomplishment.

Price said, “Because my YMCA was one of the many hosting pools in the area, it was easy to decide to use my athletic ability and one of my favorite pastimes to do something good for the community!” The Swim for Diabetes benefits the Diabetes Association of Greater Cleveland (DAGC). All money raised remains in Cleveland to provide free community education programs, fund local research, and support Camp Ho Mita Koda for children with diabetes.

“We’re extremely proud of Michelle and all of our employees who make time to give back to the community,” said Bob Dianetti, president of Radcom. Ms. Price was pleased that Radcom showed interest and support in her cause. Many Radcom employees contributed financially and all of her colleagues contributed by offering encouragement.

Ms. Price also helped raise funds when Radcom participated in the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society’s Light The Night® walk in 2005. This year Radcom will again sponsor a team, Mighty Mikey’s Marchers, in honor of Mikey Dianetti, a 5-year old leukemia fighting superhero who was diagnosed in 2003 and is the son of Radcom’s president and vice-president. Of course, Ms. Price will walk with the team and the rest of the Radcom walkers will try to keep up. “I feel strongly about helping people with cancer and diabetes. My focus when choosing philanthropic events, beyond contributing financially, is athletics. Like anyone, I prefer to use my passion to help others,” said Price.

To that end, Ms. Price also plans to participate in The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Team In Training®. She said, "I just found out about this event through Radcom's president, Bob Dianetti, who is running a half marathon in Cleveland this year." Ms. Price will try to double her boss' effort by running a full marathon in 2007. "I'm happy to be working for a company that not only supports me in my various causes, but also offers encouragement and brings new ways I can help to my attention!" stated Price.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Team In Training is the world's largest endurance sports training program. The program provides training to run or walk a whole or half marathon or participate in a triathlon or century (100-mile) bike ride. Since 1988, more than 295,000 volunteer participants have helped raise more than $660 million.
