(Hudson, Ohio, USA / August 28, 2008) – For the fourth year in a row, Radcom, a professional services firm in Hudson, Ohio, is participating in the annual Light the Night walk to benefit the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society. Radcom's Mighty Marchers became active in this event in 2005 after then 4-year-old Mikey Dianetti, son of Radcom principals, Bob and Angie Dianetti, was diagnosed with leukemia. Mikey, who is now 8 years old, has completed his treatments and is doing very well. He looks forward to the walk and sees it as an opportunity to help others with leukemia and other blood diseases by helping to find a cure.

Radcom's Mighty Marchers have an added incentive to participate this year as one of Radcom's employees was recently diagnosed with chronic myeloid leukemia. Another Radcom employee, Shannon Siwicki, is raising additional funds through a pizza eating contest at Pizza Works, which is a small pizzeria chain in Warren and Hubbard, Ohio, that she and her husband own.

Since 2005, Radcom's Mighty Marchers has been one of the top fundraisers for this event in Northeast Ohio. Last year a record 22 team members participated, including Radcom staff, family, and friends. Last year's team raised more than $4,600 and this year they hope to attract more members and raise even more money to benefit the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society.

This year's Light the Night walk will take place on September 25 at Lock 3 in Akron, Ohio, and will last from 7:30 until 8:30. More information can be found online by visiting:
